News report says Sen. Kerr, Okla. Democrat, has reduced to 200 pounds. "The doctor," adds the senator, "put me on a diet to improve my health, not my disposition."

But the quality of senatorial reports isn't what it used to be. A generation ago the late Senator John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi, confronted by a doctor's decision, remarked out loud that everything in this life he really wanted to do was either illegal, immoral, or fattening.

A little law is a good thing, but a good thing carried too far becomes a burlesque. Thus the latest pronouncement of the British board of trade brings down ridicule on England's socialist government.

It seems that the government price-fixers decided a 2-penny box of matches should be increased in price by 6 per cent. But how to add 6 per cent to 2 cents was a puzzle.

Therefore the board of trade promulgates an edict that in the future Englishmen shall get 3 less matches to the box—47, that is, instead of 50.

And for this a free people hold elections and levy taxes to pay public officials.

Some of the young men who write up items for the press don't know their own business well enough to describe its facts accurately. I note in this morning's papers a reference to a police arrest in Louisville, Ky., in which a man was accused of stealing from a printshop "100 pounds of scrap lead worth about $26." But what newspapers and printshops use isn't lead, and it isn't called that in the parlance of the trade.

It is "type metal"—a refined product manufactured to close tolerances. The formula: 84 per cent lead, for mass; 12 per cent antimony, for hardness; and 4 per cent tin, for quick-flowing performance.

The 26-per-hundredweight quotation is probably correct for secondhand metal. Today's new metal price is around 32 cents a pound at the refinery. Before the war it was as low as 7 cents.

Body of Missing Man Is Found

Caruthersville, Mo., Aug. 23 —(AP)—The trussed and battered body of "Sport" Lipscomb, 50, Steele, Mo., cab driver missing since Monday night, was found near a drainage canal a short distance from Deering, Mo., late yesterday.

Two children, members of a searching party which had been scouring the area since the man's disappearance, found the body.

Sheriff Jake Claxton said the cab driver, well known and highly respected at Steele, was known to have picked up two passengers shortly before midnight Monday. One of the passengers had been identified as an ex-convict of "bad" reputation, the sheriff said.

Claxton said the man had been beaten over the head, bound and gagged. Indications were he was killed in his cab and then tossed out of the car into a clump of weeds. His cab was found abandoned near Bardwell, Ky.

34 New Polio Cases in State

Little Rock, Aug. 23 —(AP)—Thirty-four new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Arkansas for the week ended Aug. 18. This was double the total of the previous week, said the Arkansas Health department.

The total cases for the year in Arkansas rose to 172, 14 more than for the corresponding period of 1950.

Hope Man Hurt in Accident

A Hope man was slightly injured last weekend in an accident near Magnolia. Investigating State Trooper Jim Rowell said the wreck involved a car driven by Troy J. Foreman of Waldo and a ton and half truck driven by Charles E. Dodson of Hope.

He reported that Foreman was going south on a curve and Dodson was going north and that Foreman's car was sideswiped by the truck. Damage was estimated at $150. Dodson received bruises and lacerations about the head.

Raps Family Farm Review

Little Rock, Aug. 22 —(AP)—The family farm policy review is a notable move of the department of agriculture to sell the Brannan plan to America's farmers, says Joe C. Hardin of Grady.

Hardin, president of the Arkansas farm bureau federation, said in his weekly news letter to bureau members that the review is a back door approach to federalization of agriculture.

The review is a report and tentative recommendations of the department's activities.

It will be presented to farmers in a series of county meetings. A report on reaction to the program will be filed with the department.

by Oct. 15.

Hardin said the review is an attempt by the department and Secretary Brannan to "engage in policy making rather than confining (its) activities to x x x to its proper role of administering the laws which congress enacts."

Senators Try to Revise Tax Setup

Washington, Aug. 22 —(AP)—Senators on the tax-writing finance committee huddled behind closed doors again today to take another look at — and maybe revamp — the formula for taxing personal income.

One member told newsmen late yesterday the formula didn't work out the way the committee had anticipated. This was a factor who stated that his name not be used indicated the trouble was caused by a hump in the impact of the plan at middle income levels.

Tables showing how the formula would apply were released yesterday. They showed that some married couples in the $5,000 to $15,000 income brackets would pay more under the senate formula than under the system the house had voted.

The senator said the committee yesterday looked into various ways to moderate these bumps but that "whenever we knock out that hump, it bulges out somewhere else."

After the formula was tentatively voted last Tuesday, committee staff experts said it would benefit all classes of taxpayers as compared with the house plan but would help the little fellow only slightly and the high income brackets much more.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the finance committee said the tables were "somewhat misleading" because they did not take into account "a feature we had been discussing." But he indicated this feature had not actually been voted on by the committee. George said some modifications in the formula might be made today.

Colin Starn, chief of staff of the congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, said the tables were correct as a reflection of the tax like formula announced Tuesday.

Senators were close-mouthed about any changes that might be voted in the formula.

One indicated, however, there was fear the plan voted by the committee might stir up a political storm because of two features. These were the big benefit in the top brackets as compared with the house bill and the heavier impact on married couples in the middle brackets.

The senate formula would raise an estimated $2,435,000,000 a year in additional revenue from the individual income tax. $412,000,000 less than under the house bill.

It would impose a defense tax on the portion of an individual's taxable income which is left after he pays his present tax. The rate would be three per cent on the first $200 of this remainder and four per cent on anything above that.

The house plan, included in its $7,200,000,000 revenue-raising bill, called for addition of 12 1/2 per cent to the amount the individual pays now.

The increase for some married couples under the senate plan as compared with the house bill would not be great.

For instance, a married couple with two children and $10,000 net income would pay $1,791 under the house measure and $1,812 under the senate formula.

As an example of the benefit of the senate formula in the upper brackets, a similar couple with $350,000 net income would pay $21,245 under the house bill and $20,013 under the senate plan.

Model Tank Wrecks Room

London, Aug. 22 —(AP)—Alan Tamplin built a 280-pound radio-controlled model tank and turned it loose on the living room floor.

The tank, a four-foot-long squat monster of aluminum alloy and bronze got out of control.

It rumbled about the room smashing furniture, fusing lights and frightening Mrs. Tamplin half to death.

Inventor Tamplin was marooned on a table top until the tank finally ground to a stop in the wreckage.

Tamplin brought the tank to London today for a demonstration at the model engineer's exhibition. He says he has the controls working properly now and it will lay a smoke screen, fire three rounds of ammunition from its turret gun or squirt jets of water at any little boys who try to tamper with it.

But Mrs. Tamplin still calls it "that horror."

Hint to Motorists

For cars that have been in long service, preparations for winter should include changing to a lighter oil, adjustment of the carburetor to assure a richer mixture of fuel, adjustments to the ignition system, checking of the battery, brake and tire, and cleaning of the cooling system before putting in anti-freeze.

Anti-Red Youths Plan Campaign

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 23 —(AP)—The non-Communist World Assembly of Youth will go into Africa and southeast Asia to set up educational programs designed to win young people away from the influence of Moscow.

An experimental center for mass education is planned to reduce illiteracy in Africa. A leadership training institute will be established in southeast Asia.

Sites for the projects will be chosen after consultation with youth groups and governments in the two areas.

The executive committee of the assembly announced the two-point program yesterday. It carries out plans drafted by the governing council, which ended a six-day meeting Tuesday.

Seeks Hot Air From Texans

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 23 —(AP)—The chamber of commerce of Marquette, where it's almost always cool, gave a sample today to heat-ridden Texas.

It just was evident, it was well meant.

Marquette's C of C sent to Fort Worth's chamber of commerce by air express a cylinder containing "clean, pure, cool, washed Lake Superior air."

"Please use it freely," said an accompanying message, "for relief of your hellish temperatures."

In return, Fort Worth was invited to send some of its hot Texas air here "for blinding purposes."

The apparent thought was that it could be used against Marquette's severe winters.

McMath Discusses Education

Stuttgart, Aug. 22 —(AP)—The people of Arkansas want an adequate educational program and they are willing to pay for it, says Governor McMath.

"Most of the legislators are, too," said the governor here yesterday, "and between now and the next (legislative) session we will get together on one."

Arkansas Woman Slain, Husband Held

San Francisco, Aug. 23 —(AP)—Police today arrested the husband of a blonde Arkansas bride whose badly decomposed body was found in a weed-thatched backyard.
James Spathis was arrested 12 hours after the body of his wife, Helen, 33, was discovered.
A preliminary autopsy failed to indicate the cause of death.
Homicide Inspector Tom C. Ho said she "probably had been murdered." Other investigators said it appeared possible she had been smothered or strangled. She apparently had been dead more than a month.

Spathis, 36, a civilian truck driver for the army, crossed his heart and told Cahill:
"I swear to God sir, I don't know anything about it."
Homicide Inspector Ralph McDonald said the woman left her home in North Little Rock, Ark., May 18. She came here and was married to Spathis 10 days later.
Mrs. Spathis' body was found by 12-year-old Mike Hoffman, who spotted some golden blonde hair in shrubbery.
Police said they had contacted Spathis last month about his wife when her mother Mrs. J. C. Romanson, and her sister, Mrs. T. W. Minton, both of North Little Rock wrote that they hadn't heard from the bride.

Inspector Jack Ahern said that time Spathis told police:
"We had a little fight and she walked out on me."

Mrs. Spathis' family wrote police a second letter, however, and quoted the Spathis' landlady, Mrs. Elsie M. Middle, as saying the couple had a fight and Spathis moved out.

Mrs. Middle said she had written the family that she had heard Mrs. Spathis shout:
"You're crazy if you think I'll stay with you if you're married to somebody else."
Officers said she apparently had learned she was not Spathis' first night the last bid of $113,749.50 was low.

DOROTHY DIX Should She Remarry?

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young widow of 22, with two children. I have been going with a boy 21 for about a year. He is a hard worker, doesn't drink, and we are very much in love. We want to be married but my in-laws are bitterly against it and are trying to turn my children against me. This boy is very fond of my children.

Answer: Unless he is very mature for his age, a boy of 21 is too young to take on the responsibility

Rock Island Abandons Service

Little Rock, Aug. 23 —(AP)—The Rock Island railway has been authorized to discontinue its single daily passenger train between Little Rock and Hot Springs.

The Arkansas public service commission gave the authority in a unanimous decision yesterday. Abandonment of the service was protested by representatives of both cities last May 24.

But the PSC said that, except for one year, passenger business on the trip had declined steadily since the end of World War II. Increases in rates have not offset the decline in customers and higher railroad wages, said the order, adding that the trip had been operated at a loss for more than two years.

The commission noted that the Missouri Pacific railroad operates two round trips between Little Rock and Hot Springs daily, plus 18 round trips by major bus lines and three flights by an airline.

The railroad may shut off service on the line at any time by giving 30 days public notice.

Bids Rejected for Lake Work

Little Rock, Aug. 22 —(AP)—The Arkansas game and fish commission has rejected all bids for repair and improvement of the dam on Lake Chicot in extreme south-east Arkansas.

Executive Secretary T. A. McAmis said the action was taken at a meeting Monday.

Three bids for the project had been opened at a previous meeting. Lowest bid was approximately $92,000. Original estimates for the work had been approximately $90,000.

wife. They interviewed Mary Gray Spathis who said she was married to the man who was in 1941 but divorced him in 1948.

of a ready-made family. However, the decision of a second marriage is yours, and yours alone.
Their Intentions Good
Your in-laws undoubtedly have the interests of their grandchildren at heart, and are trying to advise you to the best of their ability. Consider the points on which they object to your marriage, and perhaps you will see justice in some of them. Weigh the pros and cons carefully. Your boy friend has fundamentally sound characteristics, which will not be lost by waiting. A postponement of a year or two in your wedding plans won't hurt either of you, and it gives you both a better chance to know each other.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and I are in disagreement over this point: I believe that the Golden Rule is correct, and he says you should expect others to do unto you what you would do unto them. He believes that people take advantage of my good nature and generosity. Actually the things I do are small such as minding a neighbor's child, or lending things, and I am sure the people I help would do the same for me.

This seems like a small item but it has brought on many quarrels between us.

Answer: As a code of living, one has yet improved on the Golden Rule of "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." If you are naturally generous person, it is useless for your husband to try to change you love and consideration for one's neighbor cannot be killed. They are the enduring traits of good people; the hope of the world.

Be careful that your home and family are not neglected for your good deeds. Carelessness in this respect will give your husband added basis for quarrels. Careful training on your part should bring him around to your point of view. Be sure to emphasize for his benefit every favor done you, or him, by around to your point of view. Be sure to emphasize for his benefit every favor done you, or him, by a friend.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 18 years old and married to a man of 20. We have been married two years and have no children. We moved to a farm a year ago and I work in the fields driving a tractor every day he works. He has only bought me two sweaters and one pair of shoes since we have been married. He never gives me any money and will have nothing to do with my family, though his mother is living with us. Shall I leave him now while I am still young or remain with him and try to make a go of it?

Answer: You'll have to do more than just "try to make a go of it" to have any happiness with a stingy husband. You're very young now, and can demand concessions much better than you will be able to later on. Since you work in the field's with your husband, tell him you are at least entitled to a field hand's pay. You work hard to help earn the money; you are certainly entitled to at least enough of it to buy decent clothes.

Stinginess is one of the worst habits to cure in a husband. Love of the almighty dollar gets a grip on a man that nothing can loose. Few things are worse than existence with a man who has to be begged for a week to part with a rickie. Take a stand now. Add and stick to it.

Boll Weevils, Worms Active in Hempstead

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 23.—The dry weather in Southwest Arkansas is causing considerable damage and concern for several crops including cotton and livestock. These facts were revealed today in county Extension agents' weekly crop reports received in the state Agricultural Extension office.

In Sevier county late tomatoes and other truck crops are suffering. Sprinkler irrigation is being used where equipment and water are available. County Agent Victor Ivy reported little or no movement in markets of any crops other than melons.

In the same area livestock are beginning to lose weight when stock water is becoming low and feed and pasture crops are suffering. Growing is still available, however. Livestock are reported from bluetongue and foot rot where treatment or vaccination was not made. Supplemental pastures are being well appreciated by Miller county farmers who have them, stated Assistant County Agent Wyndal I. Milford. Some livestock cotton bolls are opening because of the weather.

From Little River county, John I. Coley, agent, says yields of some fields of cotton will be cut as much as 50 per cent if there is not rain in a week or 10 days. The bollworm outbreak is worse there than since 1941. Boll weevils are under control. Stock farmers in the area say they will have to start feeding if the weather does not break in the next week.

Report from the Howard county agent, E. A. Hansen, is much the same, stating "Upland pastures practically burned up."

Farmers in Hempstead county continue to concentrate on movement of watermelons to market while bollworms and weevils are active in cotton fields. Melons are equal but of good quality, according to Oliver L. Adams, county agent. Most fields have considerable aphid infestation, he added.

W. P. Spivey's report from Pulaski county showed that weevil control on most cotton fields is satisfactory, though bollworm damage is increasing rapidly. Late cotton has an extremely large number of bollworm eggs.

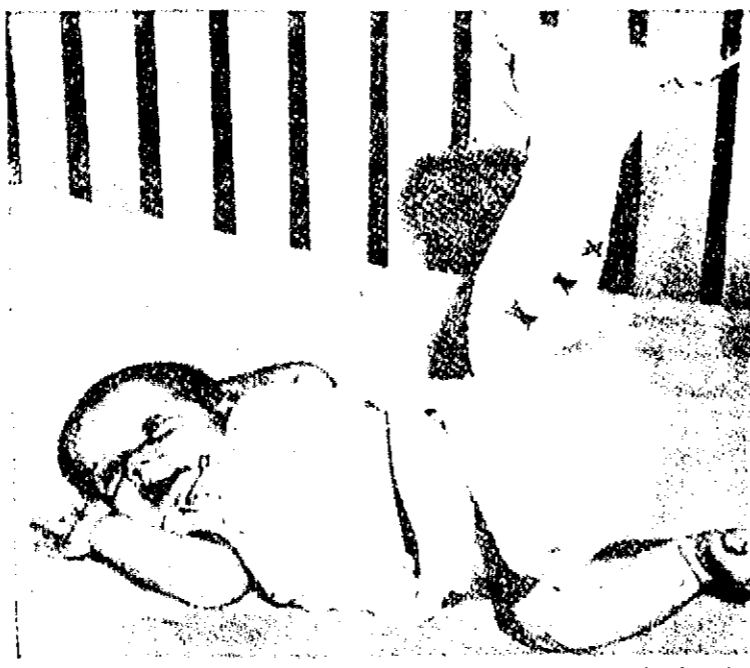

During the past two weeks an extra large amount of hay has been harvested, with excellent quality and fair yields. Late commercial crops and home vegetable gardens are making satisfactory development. Late soybeans, though making good growth, have not a very small amount of seed, while some early planted beans are setting an excellent crop of seed. Many Pulaski farmers are now using supplemental pastures of Jespedez and sweet Sudan for maintaining satisfactory milk production and gains in beef.

TOUGH BREAK—Smiling through her predicament, a broken leg that must be kept in tension for five weeks, is two-month-old Judy Ann Gilpin of St. Paul, Kans. The baby's mother, carrying her through their home still covered with silt from the recent flood, slumped and fell, dropping the child.

Tampico Braces for Hurricane

Tampico, Mexico, Aug. 22.—(AP)—This city's 100,000 inhabitants faced again today the threat of a "dangerous" hurricane hovering off shore.

While reports tried to frighten when the storm would strike, the Tampico people laid in supplies of food and strengthened their houses for the big show.

The plan to bring inhabitants of the low-lying, tightly built other suburbs into the center of the city was delayed until the storm's course is known. Police said about 600 of the more nervous ones came voluntarily to refugee centers set up at school houses on the hill in the center of town. Farmers came into the city to seek shelter.

A heavy rain was falling as day ended and a fresh breeze was blowing.

Raid today the U. S. weather bureau at New Orleans said the storm after remaining almost stationary for several hours—was beginning to move slowly towards Tampico.

Last night's advisories had predicted the swirling winds, which killed 150 persons in devastated Juchitán, would hit this port of Tampico population and nearby rich Mexican oil fields before noon today.

Moses Denies Making Big Land Deals

Little Rock, Aug. 23.—(AP)—C. Hamilton Moses, president of the Arkansas Power and Light Co., and Texas Oilman Roy Sturgis, have been named in a garnishment proceeding filed by the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

The RFC filed the action yesterday in federal district court here in an effort to satisfy a judgment of $40,703.90 against officials of the defunct Concrete Products Co., Inc., of Fort Smith.

Sturgis, Dallas lumberman, oil operator and broker, and Moses were described in the suit as apparent holders of property belonging to Orestis Wilkins of Little Rock, an official of the concrete company. The government agency said it "has reason to believe" that Moses and Sturgis are in possession of land and land equities belonging to Wilkins.

Wilkins bought about 100,000 acres of land in "twenty or more" Arkansas counties between Feb. 7 and June 28 of this year for about $100,000, the RFC said.

Wilkins was described by the RFC as "trustee, agent, partner, co-partner or acting in some fiduciary capacity for x x x Moses and Sturgis."

When informed of the RFC's action, Moses said:

"I don't owe him (Wilkins) a dime. I am not associated with Mr. Sturgis in this land buying. All of the land belongs to Mr. Sturgis."

Records at the land office reveal that about 100,000 acres of land in twenty counties—mostly tax delinquent property—has been purchased by Wilkins. Of the acreage, all of it is in the name of Sturgis except for about 800 acres which was titled in the name of Moses.

The case is the result of litigation following a loan of $30,000 to the defunct firm by a Fort Smith bank in 1947. The RFC took over the loan, and later won a judgment in Sebastian chancery court for an unpaid balance of $75,613.34.

The agency was high bidden on the properties of the firm when they were sold at a public foreclosure sale for $35,000. A suit then was filed in federal district court here for the remainder of the balance and a judgment was won in December, 1949.

Two other officials of the concrete company, Alvin D. Clark and Maxie C. Clark, were co-defendants with Wilkins in the first two court actions. However, they are not mentioned in the garnishment proceedings.

Pioneer Family Plans Reunion

Little Rock, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Little Rock will be scene of a family reunion this weekend—a family reunion of a somewhat different sort.

It will be the fourth annual meeting of the Coppedge Family association, marking the 303rd anniversary of the founding of the family in America.

The first Coppedges (or Coppages, as the name also is spelled) to arrive in the new world were Edward and his nephew, William, who landed in what is now Virginia's Northumberland county in 1648.

Lord Baltimore gave the two a large land grant to get them settled in the colonies.

Family historians say that all Coppages and Coppedges in the United States—the number is placed at more than 1,200—are descended from these first two early arrivals.

Four years ago representatives of the Coppedge-Coppage clan and related families got together and formed a family association, which has held annual meetings since.

At last year's meeting in Washington, West Barreque of Pine Bluff was elected president, and Little Rock was chosen as site of this year's meeting.

The convention, to be held at Hotel Marion, will open at 7:30 p. m. Friday with a business meeting.

Saturday morning there will be a tour of the territorial restoration, MacArthur park and the birthplace of General MacArthur and a visit to the governor's mansion.

Albert Pike Memorial temple will be visited Saturday afternoon, and a banquet will be held Saturday night.

The formal program will end Sunday morning, when members of the family will attend church services in a group.

Miss Mills today said she feared attendance would be less than had been hoped. She said many members of the family are on military duty or would be unable to attend for other reasons.

She said, however, that between 30 and 60 reservations had been received and others still were arriving.

More than 100 of the 672 members of the Coppedge Family association attended last year's convention.

Arkansas has nine of the members. Greatest concentration is in Virginia where 116 members live. Fifty-six members live in Missouri, and 49 in Oklahoma.

The Coppedges (or Coppages) are a family of about 1,200 members. The center of Tampico, is built on a hill, but the outlying districts are on low ground subject to flooding. The refugees will be lodged in schools and the municipal palace.

Clubs

Blevins

Sixteen members, one guest, and one new member met for the regular July meeting of the Blevins Home Demonstration Club at the home Economics cottage. The devotion was given by Mrs. Young Nesbitt, the hostess.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. D. Gorman, president. Plans were made for the annual picnic to be held in August with families of the members as guests.

Mr. Herbert M. Stephens used the Seven Basic Food Groups as the topic for his discussion on meal planning and meals for the sick. Mrs. Blackwood gave some helpful hints on preparing salads. She also showed some corsages made from nylon hose and explained how they were made.

Mrs. C. W. Leverette and Mrs. Clyde Snellgrove directed the group in some games and Mrs. Snellgrove won the surprise package. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Pastor: "Do you love your enemies?"

Reprobate: "Sure do—all three of them tobacco, liquor and women."

trace their ancestry to King Alfred the Great. The family association has an old Saxon motto: "Kyned kynn known kepe," which translated into modern English reads "Keep to your own kind."

Flood Damage Depicted by Movie

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A movie depicting mid-western flood damage has been added today to administration moves in support of President Truman's bid for $400,000,000 for relief and rehabilitation.

Fewer than 100 members of the senate and house showed up last night for the showing of the army signal corps film, "Mid-West Flood Disaster of 1951" in the interior department auditorium.

The president, who introduced the picture, had invited all members of congress, through Vice President Barkley and Speaker Rayburn.

The audience of slightly under 400, including members of the cabinet, congressmen and their wives, interior department officials and newspapermen, saw a 40-minute newsreel showing the flood at its height and the devastation it caused in Kansas, Missouri and adjacent states.

Col. A. E. Hoesoe, aide to Defense Mobilization Director Wilson, described the flood as "the greatest single catastrophe in the history of this country."

Mr. Truman has asked for the $400,000,000 appropriation to establish a national system of flood disaster insurance and provide funds to pay flood victims for at least part of their losses, to make and guarantee loans on liberal terms for the building of homes and businesses to replace those destroyed, and to help farmers drain and rehabilitate their land.

In a brief introduction, the President told the audience "all you have to do is take a look at it to see what these people are up against."

Indian Bootleggers
Among the first bootleggers were the Tuscarora Indians, of North Carolina, who carried forbidden rum to tribes of the interior, and sold it by the mouthful. The purchaser chose the tribesman with the biggest mouth as his scale, with the rum being speeded into a bowl brought long as a receptacle.

Battleship Runs Aground

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The mighty 45,000-ton battleship Wisconsin drifted aground in the Hudson river opposite Manhattan today and then 13 puffing tugsboats pulled her free in a marine drama witnessed by thousands.

A strong downstream tide held her fast on the New Jersey shore just south of Edgewater for approximately two hours. She was reported free at 1:23 a. m. EST.

The battleship came into New York harbor yesterday from Halifax, N. S., on a training cruise and was moved fore and aft to floating buoys.

A third naval district spokesman said unofficial information indicated her stern line snapped and that her end swung around and touched bottom off the Jersey shore.

Fair Enough

By Westbrough Pegler
Copyright, 1951
By King Features Syndicate.

New York, Aug. 22 — Martin Dies, who pioneered the fight against the communist treachery and then suddenly dropped out of politics, has taken the case of the Marshall girls of Marshall, Tex., in their revolution against the social security tax on household and yard help. Dies is now running for the nomination in 1952 to succeed old Tom Connally in the senate. He has made 221 speeches so far to a total of about a million people.

The Marshall girls already have put the treasury to terrible bother and considerable expense and have kicked up a favorable press. Nevertheless, the treasury has managed to put them behind the eight ball by levying on their bank accounts for petty amounts. John Snyder, the secretary of the treasury, realizes that congress gave him an unenforceable law to administer so he didn't dare apply the criminal penalty but went after the Marshall girls got hold of Dies, and Martin, who is just getting hot to the campaign, hurried over to East Texas to see them.

New Mr. Dies is going to file an application with Ellis Campbell, Jr., Dallas, the collector of internal revenue for the district, demanding the return of the money. He will also demand public hearings of the arguments which would give him a chance to sound off against the constitutionality of the social security tax on employers and the withholding process generally. Campbell undoubtedly will refuse to give up the money and Dies then will go into the district court as the first step toward the supreme court. Campbell can deny a hearing on the application and just turn it down flat. After all, the treasury realizes that this law is a turkey and Campbell knows that Dies will be making political medicine for his own candidacy. Naturally, as an administration man, the collector cannot be expected to oblige Mr. Dies.

But it will not take Dies long to get the case into court and there we can swing out into space and use the honorable court for a political rally.

"We will charge that the treasury has been guilty of embezzlement of all this money as trustee," Mr. Dies said, "because every body knows there isn't a dollar in the social security fund because Roosevelt and Truman have just been squandering it as fast as it comes in and then squandering the money they got by selling bonds to replace the money. We will show that they squandered millions for politicians and eggs and passed this addition to the original act to cover the household and yard help so as to get some more money to squander. And, of course, we are going to show that this law tries to compel these women to perform clerical work as tax collectors against their will, which is involuntary servitude, and without pay. That is unconstitutional and they know it. They are scared to death of this case because the whole withholding process will come down in the crash. They are never going to ask for the criminal penalties. Half of the households of Texas are just ignoring the law. They just don't bother to make out any returns. Nobody is trying to do anything to them because the treasury doesn't want to stir things up against the administration, congress never did have any right to tell an employer, 'Look here, you got to buy some insurance for that workman over there and you have got to buy it from a particular company that the government is interested in.' Congress would have just as much right to say 'you have got to buy a brand new automobile for that employee and you have got to buy it from a certain company.'"

"We are going to subpoena the records of the collector's office and show that the law is practically a dead letter in Texas. They would have been glad to say nothing about the case of the ladies in Marshall but those ladies just wouldn't be still. They insisted on a test. Snyder tried to duck the test by confiscating their money."

Two treasury agents recently spent a whole day serving 37 legal papers on two Marshall banks to seize petty amounts from each of 10 bank accounts. They drove a total of about 170 miles to do this and before that activity began there had been a squall of correspondence, and doubtless long-distance calls, to, between the treasury in Washington, the collector's office in Dallas, and sub-offices in Tyler and Long View. And, of course, clerical work has been necessary, too, to fill out the papers. One desperate revolutionist, Mrs. Jamie Pitts, told these married women to give their own first names to equalize the feminine character of their uprising was annoyed when it appeared that the treasury had snubbed her. But she was mollified when it turned out that the agents couldn't find her bank account at first because it was carried in a bank at a liddy, biddy of town called Elysian Fields. They duly tagged Miss Pitts for $3.47 and she was brightened up.

Four times a year all this must be repeated, and if Mr. Dies is right about the disregard of the law all over the state, the collapse of the business is inevitable. If a million women disobey and take the pains to assert their defiance, the nation will be in a state of anarchy and chaos, and the power and money of enforcing it according to the Marshall (Tex.)

Texans Advance in Semipro Tourney

Wichita, Kan., Aug. 23 —(AP)—The Fort Wayne, Ind., Capchairs, defending champions, made their first start tonight in this year's National Semipro Baseball tournament.

They play the Perryburg Ohio, club in the final game of a five-game card. Fort Wayne has won the national title the past four years.

Two of the double elimination tournament's top teams battled through a wild game last night with the Sinton, Tex., Oilers finally edging the LaFayette, Ind., Red Sox 9-8. The victory advanced Sinton into the third round undefeated. It was LaFayette's first loss.

In first round games the Casa Grande, Ariz., Kings walloped Lewiston, Ida., 9-0, and the Billingham, Wash. Belles beat the Albuquerque N. M. L. Simons 4-3. Albuquerque pushed across two runs in the ninth but Bellingham cut off the rally to win.

By Donald Hobbs
Hope blasted a pair of DeQueen hurlers for 17 hits and a 12-0 shut-out to take the lead in the South-west Arkansas loop playoff.

Over at Nashville the Mineral Springs nine defeated the Howard County boys to even things up. The two teams will play again Friday night and the winner will meet Hope for the title go.

Buddy White's home run in the first started the scoring and Hope never let up. Riding homers in the second inning, Glison Ross wonning hurler, let DeQueen down with three hits.

Friday night the Legionnaires entertain the Red River Arsenal "Prizes", a team they have beaten twice previously by very narrow margins.

Monroe Pulls Away in Cotton Loop

By United Press
Monroe of Louisiana, now boasting a "nine game Cotton States league lead, with nine playing days to go, knocked Pine Bluff of Arkansas out of second place in the standings last night, and Greenwood of Mississippi moved up to the runner-up spot.

The Sports dealt Pine Bluff a double blow, winning two seven-inning games via 5 to 0 shutouts. Billy Muffett turned in his first win in the opener, and talented Darwin Chriscio duplicated the feat.

Greenwood took a one game lead over third place Pine Bluff by whipping 1st place Greenville twice, 3 to 0 and 4 to 1.

Fourth place Natchez lost ground in the three-way fight for the runner-up position, losing to Hot Springs 10 to 3. In the other game, Clarksdale scored two runs in the bottom of the ninth to nose out El Dorado 2 to 1.

The double Mow win put the Sports closer to the Mathematical certainty of the pennant. A win to night against Pine Bluff, with Greenville could win the title. Muffett scattered six hits in last night's first Monroe win, with Chriscio yielding but three hits for the sweep.

Greenwood's Matecki turned in a one-hit seven-inning job against Greenville in the first game, with Pitchers Moxley and Werback giving up a total three hits for the sweep.

Tonight games: Hot Springs at Natchez; Pine Bluff at Monroe; El Dorado at Clarksdale; Greenville at Greenwood.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

(For Hugh Fullerton Jr.)
New York, Aug. 23 —(AP)—Baseball visitors here from the Midwest say the situation at Detroit is really distressing and that the Tigers' new general manager Charlie Gehringer, had better give up his manufacturing business entirely and devote all his days to trying to rebuild the club.

The Tigers, they say, have almost no good looking young players coming up. Their attendance threatens to fall 700,000 short of the 1,900,000 drawn at Briggs stadium last season.

It required no great twisting of the arm to persuade tennis officials at Forest Hills that they should hold the national doubles final in their stadium next Sunday after it had been washed out four days running at Brooklyne, Mass. It is the fondest wish of U. S. L. T. A.'s top brass that the men's and women's doubles might be transferred permanently to the big plant on Long Island. Only if, and when, that is done will it be possible to stretch the championships to two weeks and claim something like parity and claimous Wimbledon fortnight.

Incidentally, this tennis observer feels the American body pulled a skull in withholding an invitation from Baron Gottfried Von Cramm to compete in this year's title event starting on Saturday. There isn't a single European threat in the tournament.

And the German veteran, who was one of the world's very best just before the war, would at least have added much color. He wanted to come over.

At the risk of putting the whammy on Cleveland we would like to call modest attention to the fact that we picked 'em away last spring.

We based this pretty piece of exporting largely on the expectation that Minnie Monos, a semi-rookie from Cuba, would while the ball at about a .350 clip. The fact that Minnie has done most of his winning for Chicago does not in our opinion detract from the brilliance of the selection.

An expert baseball picker, like a good horse player must learn to allow for every contingency, even to the trading off of the league's best hitter for a lefthanded relief pitcher.

Ever since the race to become Happy Chandler's successor began in earnest, it has been said and frequently emphasized in some quarters that Ford Dick, president of the National league, didn't have a chance at the commissioner's job because "those American league fellows wouldn't have him."

Now, one of the reports from Tuesday's meeting here is that Frick showed more real strength in the rival league than in his own, and that, as a result, he is a very strong contender. Frick told this writer months ago, and with great earnestness, that he didn't want the big job, but evidently he has expressed willingness to be drafted.

The owners would make no mistake in choosing either him or Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds. Both are smart, able baseball men, and neither of them can sing a lick. That would help.

Indians, Yanks Clash Today in Crucial Series

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Cleveland's electrifying stroke drive for the American league pennant enters another critical stage today as the Indians clash head on with the runner-up New York Yankees.

The Indians, out in front by two games, have three of their aces ready for the invading Yankees, who limped in from Detroit.

Manager Al Lopez will shoot Bob Lemon (14-9), Early Wynn (14-11) and Mike Garcia (17-8) against the defending champions. Bob Feller (20-5), of course, is in reserve.

The Yankee pitching plans are not as formidable. Vic Raschi (17-7) will face Lemon today. Jack Kramer (1-3) is scheduled for Friday night's game and Ed Lopat (15-7) is slated to work in the series finale Saturday.

Allie Reynolds (12-7) originally was scheduled to go Friday night, but the fast-balling righthander worked four innings yesterday as the Yanks dropped a 7-6 11-inning decision to the Tigers. Kramer started the game into overtime for the Indians with a three-run homer in the eighth.

The victory was the Indians' 18th in their last 22 starts and their 15th straight at home. Steve Gromek pitched the last seven innings and allowed only three hits to pick up his sixth triumph.

Johnny Groth singled home George Kell from third with the Tigers' winning run against the Yankees. The Yanks jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and led, 6-3 going into the eighth when Pat Mullin blasted a three-run homer to send the game into overtime. Virgil Trucks pitched for only two hits and fanned five in the last four innings to gain credit for the victory.

In other American league games the Philadelphia Athletics swept a two-night doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox, 5-2 and 8-1, and the Boston Red Sox beat the St. Louis Browns, 3-1, in 13 innings.

Bob Hooper stopped the White Sox on eight hits in the opener and Sam Kolditz limited Chicago to six hits in the second game. Gus CIA, a home run in each game for the A's to boost his out put to 27, tops in the American league.

The Red Sox won out in the 13th when Brownie Tommie Byrne granted a single and four walks. Byrne walked 16 during the game. Leo Kiely was the winner.

In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers captured a day-night doubleheader from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3 and 8-7. The runner-up New York Giants ran their winning streak to 11 games by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3. The Philadelphia Phils downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-0, and the Boston Braves edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3 in ten innings.

Both Dodger victories were ten inning affairs. Gil Hodges singled home the winning run in the first game and Jackie Robinson drove in the payoff counter in the night contest with his fifth hit. Clyde King won both games in relief to boost his record to 14-5. The Dodgers have now won 34 straight from the Cards.

Whitely Lockman doubled home Al Dark in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and give the Giants the nod over the Reds. Sheldon Jones was the winner in relief.

Robin Roberts blanked the Cubs on five hits for the Phils. The triumph was Roberts' 17th and his sixth shutout. Sloby Sisti scored the Braves' winning run against the Pirates from third base on a wild pitch.

Favorites Ahead in Caddie Meet

Columbus, O., Aug. 23 —(AP)—The favorites, headed by qualifying Medalist Bill Curtis of Detroit and runnerup Medalist Bill Parker of Tulsa, Okla., today headed into the third round of the National caddie tournament.

Yesterday's two match-play rounds reduced the fields in both the championship and consolation flights to "sweet sixteen."

Curtis coasted through the first round by humbling Paul Blum, Rochester, N. Y., 7 and 5, and then shopped down Billy Fraley, Huntington, W. Va., by the same score in the second round.

Parker mastered Stanley Shipley Dayton, O., 5 and 4, in his first round match and then tripped John Manuel, Sandusky, O., 4 and 3 to take his second verdict.

The quarter-finals are scheduled this afternoon the semi-finals tomorrow, and the 36-hole finals Saturday.

Winner of yesterday's driving contest was Earl Moeller of St. Louis with a 267-yard poke into the wind.

New York, Aug. 23 —(AP)—Joey Maxim settled the world's light-heavyweight crown tightly on his swarthy brows today by virtue of his surprising 15-round decision over free-swinging Irish Bob Murphy.

It was a case of boxing science versus brawling and science won. Three tough challengers await Maxim. Most probably the champion will fight Bob Satterfield in Chicago Dec. 7. There is talk of a fight in London with the British champion, stocky Don Cockell. And out on the Pacific coast there is Harry "Kid" Matthews, whose supporters claim is the best of the lot.

The action-packed fight in Madison Square Garden last night came as a shock to the experts, who picked Murphy to win and made him the 12-5 betting favorite. This was Maxim's first defense of the title since he won it 10 months ago in London from Freddie Mills.

About the seventh or eighth round I thought I had things under control, but he scared me every round," said Maxim afterwards. "I felt very strong, but I just didn't have that little teeny zip you need," said Murphy. "I had him sick plenty of times. If it hadn't been for the ropes he would have gone down in the first round, and if he had gone down I think I might have finished him."

From the fifth round on Murphy fought with his right eye almost closed, peering grotesquely out of his left. He was wading in fearlessly, and taking repeated sharp combination punches to the head and body. Murphy wanted to fight at close range and was willing to take cruel punishment to do so. Maxim managed to keep him at a distance at least half the time, and hurt him both from short and long range.

There was no argument over the decision. Referee Ruby Goldstein scored it 10 rounds for Maxim, three for Murphy and two even; the judges, Harold Barnes and Charley Shortell, made it 10-5; the Associated Press scored it 11-4.

The reason Murphy was the big favorite was simple. Last May 30, Maxim, swollen up to 161 1/2 pounds, was mercilessly beaten by the then heavyweight champion, Ezzard Charles. He needed oxygen afterwards. He got down to 173 1/2 pounds for this fight, one pound lighter than Murphy. And it looked like too great a strain.

Everyone knew Maxim was a skilled boxer, but Murphy had shown such ability to absorb two that it was generally figured that towards the end of the fight that it was generally figured that Maxim would tire and finally go down under the sailor's hammering.

The surprise came when Maxim took all that Murphy could throw, held him off in neat and artistic fashion, made him swing wild, and peppered his head and body. Maxim did not escape unhurt. He was bleeding at the nose after the first round, and his left hand was damaged early in the fight.

"I never did think I could knock him out," said Maxim in heartfelt tribute to his tough foe. As for Murphy, he was cheerful in defeat even though his right eye was closed tight, hidden under an egg shaped mass of purple. He plans a long vacation from the ring.

MacArthur Wants Japan Protected

New York, Aug. 23 —(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur, in a letter to Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, has called for "adequate security forces" to protect Japan against the threat of outside attack.

The letter, dated Aug. 20 and made public today, also predicts that the Japanese nation, under the terms of the peace treaty, will join the free world in combatting communism.

"x x x The deviant advances of international communism must be firmly repelled as a threat to internal peace and the national security," the former supreme commander in Japan said. He added:

"To such end, so long as existing international tensions exist in Asia, adequate security forces should be maintained to safeguard Japan's internal peace against any threatened external attack."

MacArthur's letter was in response to a July 13 note from the prime minister which expressed gratitude for the general's efforts in behalf of an early peace treaty for Japan.

The general advocated eight principles as basic to "healthy national progress."

One of those principles was the maintenance of security forces in Japan.

The general did not say whether

Meanwhile it appeared unlikely MacArthur would attend the San Francisco treaty conference, beginning Sept. 4.

Washington reports yesterday said MacArthur had turned down an informal invitation from Washington to address the conference.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, a MacArthur aide, denied however that MacArthur had been invited.

He said the only possible way for MacArthur to attend the conference would be for the conference itself to issue a formal invitation.

Whitney told a news conference: "You realize, of course, that as supreme commander in Japan, Gen. MacArthur represented all of the nations which will send delegates to the peace conference. The

ITU Votes to Publish Papers

Atlanta, Aug. 23 —(AP)—The International Typographic union is going to stay in the big business of publishing daily newspapers.

By an overwhelming vote—304 to one—delegates to the AFL affiliate's 83rd convention here yesterday rejected a proposal to get out of the daily field.

The contest came on an amendment to the by-laws offered by the Grand Rapids, Mich., delegation which would have meant the death of Unitypa, Inc.

Unitypa was set up by the ITU to own and operate newspapers in "monopoly" towns of 10,000 to 20,000 circulation. At present the corporation operates nine tabloid size papers, including one at Texarkana.

Fires Rekindle in Far West

By The Associated Press

Wary firefighters continued their battle today against scores of Pacific northwest forest blazes.

Twenty-two new fires broke out in Washington yesterday. One of them had covered 400 acres by evening.

In Oregon two major blazes continued out of control despite yesterday's higher humidity and rain sprinkles. The fire which has blackened 15,000 acres in the Vincent creek area of west central Oregon burned furiously over hundreds of acres more as it advanced on its north and east fronts last night.

Further south in the Hubbard creek district, the fire which has leveled 11 farm homes, still was out of control after searing more than 10,000 acres.

Most of the lightning-set fires in southern Oregon and California are under control, foresters reported.

Dope Seller Uses Room at Hospital

New York, Aug. 23 —(AP)—An alleged dope peddler was accused today of using big Bellevue hospital's main waiting room as a sales office to operate a $300,000-a-year narcotics business.

Police said, the peddler cached his drug stock in the hospital's underground engine room and kept daily "office hours" at the institution. He was not employed there.

Three narcotics squad detectives, two men and a woman, cracked the case last night with the arrest of 42-year-old Mariano Rubino, a resident of Manhattan's lower east side.

The officers, with the cooperation of hospital authorities, worked three months in the sprawling hospital. They posed as everything from doctors and nurses to attendants and porters.

Rubino was arrested on the city-operated hospital grounds as he allegedly passed a packet of heroin to a man identified as Arthur Ricardi, 29, of Manhattan.

For the past year, police said, Rubino operated in this manner:

At about 10:30 every morning, accompanied by a black spitz dog, he parked his big car near the hospital. He remained at the institution until 7 p. m. each day.

He met his clients, who numbered from seven to nine daily, in the main waiting room. The drug customers, posing as patients or relatives of patients, mingled with legitimate visitors.

After contacting a client, Rubino went to the hospital's engine room, climbed a ladder to a wooden platform atop a generator and got the drugs — concealed in a ceiling crevice.

The detectives said they found an ounce of uncut heroin in the ceiling cache, having a retail value of about $5,000.

The exchange of drug packets was made on the hospital grounds outside the waiting room, where the client always minded Rubino's dog while he made the trip to the engine room.

Police said Rubino was arrested after carrying out this routine and in the act of turning over a package of heroin to Ricardi.

Both men were booked on charges of illegal possession and sale of narcotics. Detectives said small quantities of heroin were found in the apartments of both men.

Bellevue hospital is five city blocks long — from East 25th to 30th streets. Its 13 buildings house about 2,600 patients and more than 4,500 persons are employed there.

No restrictions on arms. Presumably Japan may build up armed forces to serve in Japanese-American defensive alliance. U. S., in separate pact, will get right to station military forces in Japan.

No restrictions on rebuilding of Japan's war-wrecked industrial plant. Britain was argued out of restricting textile and shipbuilding industries, which compete with British interests.

Iranian Oil company by nationalization. Stokes insisted the 3,000 British technicians there would remain on the job only under experienced British management with British-backed guarantees of wage payments and working conditions. Meskadeh, who rose to power on a wave of anti-British feeling, demanded that the British technicians work under individual contracts with the Iranian government. The real obstacle to agreement appeared to be Iran's fear that British management would be a revival of the Anglo-Iranian company in another guise.

By The Associated Press

Great Britain has announced officially her determination to remain in the big refinery center of Abadan until the Iranian permit of production to be resumed. Production at the Anglo-Iranian oil company plant at Abadan was shut down during negotiations in the dispute over Iran's nationalization of the oil industry.

A foreign office statement warned that the British would take necessary measures to ensure the safety of British personnel in Abadan if Iran failed to do so. A few hours before the London announcement, the Anglo-Iranian oil representative in Abadan said he had ordered the entire field staff in Iran to be moved out immediately and sent home to Britain. He added that pending further orders a reduced staff would remain in Abadan.

Negotiations on the future of the Anglo-Iranian oil company collapsed yesterday. The chief British negotiator, Richard Stokes, left for London today. However, Britain showed a desire to give Iran another opportunity to reopen the talks.

Red onslaught. "We'll slaughter them," field officers said. Allied troops are dug in on the best positions they have ever held in Korea.

They are in positions where the U. N. command wanted them to remain during a truce. The Reds wanted them to retreat to below the 38th parallel. Armistice negotiations had been snugged on this point for a month. A subcommittee was trying to solve it.

First intimates of the new wheeling game in an urgent midnight telephone call from the Reds at Kaesong to the U. N. truce camp at Munsan.

By The Associated Press United Nations officers in Korea and Tokyo have denounced as a "frameup" Red action in breaking off truce talks following a bombing charge. And frameup was the exact word used in a statement issued by General Matthew Ridgeway in reply to a Communist charge that an Allied plane had bombed the truce city of Kaesong.

Ridgeway said sharply that the Allies made no such bombing—that the timing of the charge and the breaking off of negotiations showed that the Reds knew they would break off talks long before they made their trumped-up complaint. A frameup from first to last, he said, was the comment of the U. N. command.

South Korean troops have won control of their objectives in a five-day battle for strategic hills in east central Korea. The American eight army commander, General James Van Fleet, told the South Koreans that their victory gives the Allies positions of the greatest importance should full-scale war be resumed.

The Red radio at Peking has quoted a leftist newspaper dispatch from Korea as saying that all further talks have been suspended at Kaesong. This was the first mention over the Chinese Communist radio of the word "All"—previous broadcasts only said today's position had been cancelled.

Another Communist radio—the one at Peking in North Korea—said that the Allies must make a satisfactory reply to Communist charges of neutral violations. Otherwise, it added, the Reds will continue to attack.

The break in Korean truce negotiations has boosted prices of food and manufacturing raw materials for future delivery. Among those rising in New York commodity markets were cotton, wool, coffee, cocoa and vegetable oils.

'Mac' May Talk at Peace Parley

Washington, Aug. 23 —(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson has left for the delegates themselves the decision as to whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur should be invited to address the Japanese peace conference at San Francisco. That is the way the ousted commander in the Far East himself wanted it, Acheson said in a statement yesterday. He added that this country is not in position to act for the conference which starts Sept. 4.

Educator to Help Ailing Youth

Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 23 —(AP)—Four-year-old Danny Martin, operated upon for a rare disease of the brain, has left the hospital for the home of a woman educator who will teach him to talk and walk again.

The little Canadian boy was brought here from Archerhill, Sask. ten weeks ago after specialists there said there was no hope for him. The woman educator, who has remained anonymous, brought the lad to the attention of Dr. William G. Grant, who performed three operations.

Danny weighed only 20 pounds when he arrived here. He has gained seven. Five months' training is expected to restore his speech and his use of muscles which he lost during two-year illness.

Man's Death at Legion Meet, Probed

Little Rock, Aug. 23 (AP)—The death of an elderly Pope county man, injured fatally during the American Legion's state convention here, was being investigated today.

Capt. V. B. Thompson of the Pulaski county homicide squad said Robert N. Ellison, 73, of Dover, died of a fractured skull in a government hospital here yesterday.

The officer said the man rushed over before his death and said he was strangled by a "preacher" with a bottle.

Ellison, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, was attending the Legion's convention. He was picked up by an ambulance early Tuesday morning in front of the Legion's M. M. Eberts Post No. 1 hall.

Pulaski Coroner Dr. Howard A. Dismore first called Ellison's death a homicide, but later withdrew his verdict. He said he would withhold an official decision pending further investigation.

Captain Thompson said E. E. Grimes, operator of the bar at the Eberts post, said he remembered Ellison visiting the post late Monday night and early Tuesday.

Thompson said Grimes told him that Ellison fell once while standing at the bar. A short time later, he was helped from the rest room to a couch in the clubhouse, Thompson said Grimes told him.

The court found that he had painted a 1950 tag the color of a 1951 tag and painted a numeral "1" over the zero on the old plate.

Little Rock, Aug. 23 (AP)—Several hundred residents of the former North Heights school district of Miller county have protested to the Arkansas board of education, the district's annexation to the Texarkana district.

Commissioner A. W. Ford said the state board had no authority in the matter and that the protestants would be so advised.

The protest was contained in a petition addressed to the board. The petition said signers who previously had sought the consolidation had been misled.

The consolidation was effected last May by the Miller county board of education on petition of 472 of the 811 electors of the North Heights area, the consolidation, which had the approval of the Texarkana district of Arkansas was announced.

Petitions protesting the consolidation also were sent to Governor McMath. The governor has been away from his office and has not commented.

SIGNS FOR SOCIAL SECURITY AT 33 DAYS—Having reached the advanced age of 33 days, David A. Engelking, of Cleveland, Ohio, set out to make his own way in the world. His first step was to look forward to retirement, so he went to the local Social Security office. He was assigned account number 288-30-2226, making him the youngest card holder in the city. Like his mother, Mrs. Robert Engelking, shown signing for David, he is a professional model. He need work only until he is 10 years old to build up enough Social Security credits to guarantee himself a pension when he retires. But he can't collect until he is 65.

ier this year. The riding was made by Trial Examiner Arthur Left and approved by a three-man panel of the NLTB. It was reviewed by the panel after the water company filed exceptions to the original report.

The water company was accused of refusing to bargain collectively with members of Local 381 of the AFL international union of operating engineers.

Workers at the company on Aug. 8, 1950, and Feb. 14, 1951, voted to be represented by the labor organization. Following the latter election, conducted by the NLTB, the union asked the company to bargain for a work contract. The company refused, the union said.

A hearing before Examiner Left was held Feb. 20, 1951.

Left recommended that the company, upon request, bargain collectively with the union with respect to wages and conditions of employment, and, if an understanding is reached, embody such understanding in a signed agreement.

Personal tax assessments on motor vehicles in Arkansas have jumped upward this year, but county assessors apparently are leaving any appreciable hikes in 1951 urban real property valuations up to their county organization boards.

As shown today in figures contained in assessors' certifications of property appraisals for 1951 to the tax division of the Arkansas public service commission.

Deadlines for these certifications was Monday, but through today they had been received from only 41 of the 77 counties.

Many assessors informed the PSC their certifications would be delayed this year because of act 130 of 1951, which required motor vehicle owners to have proof that their vehicles had been listed for assessment before license plates could be purchased.

A sampling of the 14 counties in the higher valuation brackets showed only small percentage increases in urban real property assessments. This indicated that there will be little change in urban real property assessments.

Rural real property assessments will be made in 1952.

The dollar amount of motor vehicle assessments in some counties has more than doubled according to assessors' reports to the PSC.

In Saline county, for example, on 2,495 motor vehicles were assessed at a total valuation of $290,430 last year, compared with this year's total of 4,456 vehicles assessed for $677,769.

In Benton county, the total assessed value of motor vehicles jumped from $1 million to over $1.5 million, and increases upwards of half a million dollars were also reported in Ouachita, Poinsett and Arkansas counties.

Oregon Convict Strike Is About Over

Salem, Ore., Aug. 22 —(AP)—Most of the striking convict labor force at the Oregon state penitentiary was ready to go back to work this morning.

Some 400 prisoners in one cell block voted last night to end a week-old sit-down strike. Eight hundred more in other cell blocks will vote today. Deputy Warden Eugene Halley said, "I am sure the rest will follow suit."

The strike was called last Tuesday to protest a guard using a club to break up a fight between two prisoners.

All the men were fed last night for the first time since Thursday morning when Warden George Alexander stopped meals as a reprisal for the strike.

The break came yesterday when James H. Audette, a convict who led the prisoners' grievance committee, assured the warden that 90 per cent of the men would be back on the job today.

The prisoners appear to have won several major concessions with their strike:

1. The guard who they accuse of brutality will be disciplined.

2. They won the promise of an investigation.

3. They were assured that warden Alexander will be replaced.

Earlier Alexander took the side of guard Lt. Morris Race in his use of a club to stop the fight. But yesterday Alexander announced he would discipline Race even before the investigation was completed. The prisoners want Race transferred outside the walls and Alexander said he might do that.

In an order broadcast yesterday over the public address system the state board of control ordered the prisoners to return to work. But the board promised an investigation.

The board — made up of the governor, the secretary of state and state treasurer — also convicted that it was backing Alexander in his strike-breaking strategy. But attention was called to the search for a new warden.

The board announced some time ago that it planned to appoint a new warden and make Alexander prison superintendent.

Senate Tax Plan Lower Than House

Washington, Aug. 22 —(AP)—The tax-writing senate finance committee tentatively has decided on a personal income tax boost $412,000,000 lower than that voted by the house.

The committee threw out the house revenue-boosting plan on individuals yesterday and adopted a formula of its own which considerably lightens the increase in the upper income brackets.

This formula would raise personal income levies by an estimated $2,435,000,000 a year compared with $2,847,000,000 in the house measure.

The committee continues its closed-door reworking of the house bill today (9 a. m. EST). It has yet to act on the $2,855,000,000 in corporation tax boosts voted by the house or the hikes in many excise taxes.

The tentative vote was the first taken by the senators in their re-writing of the house-passed $7,200,000,000 measure.

It bore out advance predictions of committee members that the senate would whittle down the house figure rather than increase it toward the $10,000,000,000 asked by President Truman to help balance the budget and hold down inflationary pressures.

The finance committee formula would put an added defense tax on that portion of incomes now left after the individual has paid his taxes.

Thus it would hit with progressively less impact in the higher brackets where the present levy consumes a large share of total income.

The tentatively-adopted formula would work this way: First the taxpayer computes his tax under existing law. Then he subtracts the amount of that tax from his surtax net income, which is his income after exemptions and deductions. Then he pays as

Red Accusation Termed 'Usual'

Moscow, Aug. 22 —(AP)—Russian papers said today President Truman's congressional message concerning the Soviet Union's peace proposals consisted, "in a spirit of courtesy for Truman, of attacks on the U. S. S. R."

It was the first Soviet press comment on the President's message transmitting to congress the peace resolution of the presidium of the supreme Soviet and the accompanying letter of President Nikolai Shvernik. The presidium is the body which acts for the Soviet, or parliament, when it is not in session.

The article said the American president bypassed the main point of the Soviet proposals — the five power pact. It also said that the majority of American newspapers limited themselves to resumes of the contents of the Soviet documents "in a trendentious manner without printing the texts."

The press said the Truman message was completely silent on the Soviet charges that the U. S. has taken discriminatory measures against the U. S. S. R., and about the Soviet protest concerning the annulment of the 1937 Soviet-American trade agreement.

Caruso was 25 when he sang his first big operatic role.

a defense tax three per cent of what is left up to $2,000 and four per cent of the part above $2,000.

The house had approved a simpler formula: each taxpayer would add 12 1/2 per cent to the amount of tax he pays now.

An unofficial computation indicated the senate plan would mean a total income tax of $33,719 on an individual with $100,000 net income compared with $58,401 in the house bill and $5,92 at present. Thus he would be $4,682 better off than under the house measure.

Chairman George (D-Cal.) of the finance committee told a reporter after the tentative vote that the house plan was "unsound" and particularly unfair to the middle brackets.

Iran Premier Gets Vote of Confidence

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 22 —(AP)—Parliament gave a vote of confidence today to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh on his stand rejecting the latest British proposals for settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. But the lower house urged him to continue the oil crisis negotiations which are threatening to break down.

The vote in the majlis (lower house) was 72 to nothing. Earlier the senate had approved the nationalist premier's incongruous promise to police by a vote of 33 in favor with three absentees.

This new parliamentary move came an hour after the original deadline set by Britain's Chief Negotiator Richard Stokes, who yesterday said he would return to London unless Mossadegh abandons his stone-wall stand against the British proposals.

A British spokesman said Stokes extended his ultimatum deadline to three o'clock this afternoon local time (7:30 a. m. EST) in view of the fact that parliament appeared to want to keep the talks from breaking down.

There was little debate in the public session of the majlis when Mossadegh appeared for support. But in a preceding private session an informed source said deputies made it clear they wanted to try to avoid a breakdown.

One deputy was reported in the private session to have told Mossadegh he must resign if he cannot find a solution to the dispute with Britain over nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian oil company's vast installations in Iran.

Mossadegh did not commit himself to continue the 18-day-old negotiations. But majlis Speaker Sardar Razvi (Nationalist) announced: "This vote of confidence is for Mossadegh to continue the discussions."

Taft Hints He Wants Nomination

Rockland, Me., Aug. 22 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft hints that he will go all-out for the Republican presidential nomination — come January.

Looking at the early primaries for picking delegates in many states, the Ohio Republican told newsmen:

"I suppose I will be forced into a decision by the first of January." A group of Portland Republicans whom Taft addressed last night wondered if he'd spilled the beans. Urging hard organizational work in '52, Taft said:

"If Republicans get out there isn't any doubt of my election."

When the applause and laughter died down, Taft added:

"I mean there's no doubt in my mind we can win."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Service with a Smile

Saturday I stopped at a fancy new service station on the highway. Asked for two dollars' worth of gas. Three fellows swarmed all over—cleaning windshields, checking oil and tires... and getting in each other's way.

I paid one of them the money and started off—then noticed the gas gauge hadn't budged! When I went back and asked if they'd ever put in any gas, they just looked at each other, puzzled-like. "Must have forgot," they said.

From where I sit, those three did fine so far as their intentions were concerned—but their attention to business was off. And the mark of a good businessman is the way he attends to every detail.

Now, you take Andy over at the Garden Tavern. Like other beer retailers he voluntarily co-operates in the Self-Regulation Program sponsored by the Brewing Industry. That means keeping his place clean, well-run and orderly, right down to the last detail. Andy's proud of his "service record."

Argentina Having Strike Troubles

PERON

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 22 (AP)—Five million members of the government's massive labor organization laid down their tools today in a nationwide "strike" to demand that President Juan D. Peron and his blonde wife, Eva, rule Argentina for the next six years.

Hundreds of thousands of workers representing every major city and hamlet began converging on the capital three days ago for a mammoth demonstration today sponsored by the government-backed General Confederation of Labor (CGT), the Peronista party and Mrs. Peron's women's Peronista Party.

The giant rally will be staged along the 440-foot wide, avenue Nueve de Julio (ninth of July), which stretches for a mile through the center of the business district. Hundreds of loudspeakers have been put up and the government-controlled radio stations will broadcast the event throughout the nation.

Peron and his wife are scheduled to speak at the meeting after union leaders urge them to run for president and vice-president in the Nov. 11 elections.

Although the city took on an festive air, there was an undercurrent of tension as federal police declared that a plot was afoot to frighten people with reports that trouble may be expected during the demonstration. That opposition leaders said they had given orders to their followers to stay away from the demonstration and to avoid disorders of any kind.

Police are alert for any move on the part of the opposition to capitalize on the rally. Sixteen hundred have been placed on all major thoroughfares to Buenos Aires for the demonstration. Others are stationed at important public buildings, bridges and power plants.

There was no indication whether the president and his wife will announce their candidacy on a "Peron-Peron" ticket until after the superior council of the Peronista party meets in a day or two.

Peron has said repeatedly he does not want a second six-year term. But during recent months he has lost little doubt in the minds of his followers that he can be elected. If Mrs. Peron agrees to run with him, she will be the first woman in Argentine history to seek election for public office. It was she who taught to get Argentine women their right to vote. If the couple chooses to run, their victory appears almost certain. Opposition parties are prevented by law from forming a coalition to back the huge Peron political machine. Opposition leaders often accuse the government of preventing their free action through control of radio stations and newspapers.

The biggest problem for the CGT has been to find lodgings for the thousands of visitors they have brought in free of charge. Garages have been turned into temporary hotels with bedding on the floors. The city's hotels are bulging with guests—most of them Peronista and CGT leaders. Field kitchens have been set up at strategic places. The CGT as well as Mrs. Peron's social aid foundation will distribute food and soft drinks during the day.

Peron made the first inoculation for smallpox in 1790.

Gene charged, "In the meantime, if you feel grateful, you can do one thing for me. Don't let the public get you down. You know why you were freed today. The jury thought you were guilty. But the jury knew that Charlie Berman had spent a lifetime building up for you, and they didn't blame you for killing him."

"But they still think I killed him. Everybody thinks that—even you." Gene charged again, "What difference does it make what I think or what anybody thinks. Unless you let it get you."

"What do you mean, let it get me?" "I'm thinking of something Andre Malraux wrote. 'By a queer minority' wrote Malraux, 'we become what people think of us.'"

I thought it over. I had been through too much that day to be able to think clearly about a philosophical question.

"Just what are you driving at, Gene? Are you saying that I may become a murderer simply because everybody thinks I am?" "Take it easy for what it's worth," said Gene. "I've seen Malraux's theory proven time and again. If a man has a criminal face he may become a criminal because people think him one. If he has a stocky physique, a broad, tough face like Charlie Berman, he may become a tough guy. If he looks like a scholar he is apt to become one. People spend their lives trying to live up to the roles other people have assigned to them."

"And they have assigned to me the role of a murderer." Gene looked at me and said nothing. Nothing had ever seemed more wonderful than the clean fresh air that bathed my face as I let my convertible out on the highway to Queen Lake. The car had been stored for five weeks, ever since that day in June when I had been arrested.

I had known it was going to happen, but not so quickly as it did. A trip to Queen City to buy a couple of shirts had been my last ride before going to jail.

A siren that seemed almost in my ear brought me out of my reverie. A highway patrol car had pulled up alongside mine. I glanced at my speedometer. I was doing 25.

I slowed and stopped on the berm. The patrol car stopped behind me.

A six-foot patrolman got out of the car and came up to mine. "What do you think this is, Daytona Beach?"

"Skip the lecture and write a ticket."

The patrolman gave me a double take.

"You're Malloy, aren't you?" "That's right. And you can give me a ticket for not having a driver's license, too. It's in my wallet back at the jail. I didn't feel like going back there."

"That's all right, fellow. Glad you got a break with that jury. Just take it a little easy from here on in."

I couldn't believe it. The patrolman walked on back to his car. I drove on, holding the convertible to a steady 50. In my time I had collected enough speeding citations to paper a wall. I was allergic to highway cops. They all knew it. But now one of them had given me a break out of sympathy. And he had said that a jury had given me a break. He knew that I was guilty of speeding, but he had let me go. And a jury knew that I was guilty of murder, and it had let me go.

I recalled Gene Sawyer's quote of Malraux. Maybe a guy could have his life molded to a certain extent by public opinion, but not to the point of becoming a murderer. Not even if everybody, including your own lawyer, thought you were one.

Oil in Back Yard, Owner Is Mad

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 22 (AP)—John Bryant got mad because he struck oil in his back yard Monday. He wanted water.

He was trying to dig a water well when oil showed at 23 feet. Three to four barrels daily output was believed possible.

"I can't handle this oil,"

I slowed and stopped on the berm. The patrol car stopped behind me.

A six-foot patrolman got out of the car and came up to mine. "What do you think this is, Daytona Beach?"

"Skip the lecture and write a ticket."

The patrolman gave me a double take.

"You're Malloy, aren't you?" "That's right. And you can give me a ticket for not having a driver's license, too. It's in my wallet back at the jail. I didn't feel like going back there."

"That's all right, fellow. Glad you got a break with that jury. Just take it a little easy from here on in."

I couldn't believe it. The patrolman walked on back to his car. I drove on, holding the convertible to a steady 50. In my time I had collected enough speeding citations to paper a wall. I was allergic to highway cops. They all knew it. But now one of them had given me a break out of sympathy. And he had said that a jury had given me a break. He knew that I was guilty of speeding, but he had let me go. And a jury knew that I was guilty of murder, and it had let me go.

I recalled Gene Sawyer's quote of Malraux. Maybe a guy could have his life molded to a certain extent by public opinion, but not to the point of becoming a murderer. Not even if everybody, including your own lawyer, thought you were one.

Oil in Back Yard, Owner Is Mad

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 22 (AP)—John Bryant got mad because he struck oil in his back yard Monday. He wanted water.

He was trying to dig a water well when oil showed at 23 feet. Three to four barrels daily output was believed possible.

"I can't handle this oil,"

that bathed my face as I let my convertible out on the highway to Queen Lake. The car had been stored for five weeks, ever since that day in June when I had been arrested.

I had known it was going to happen, but not so quickly as it did. A trip to Queen City to buy a couple of shirts had been my last ride before going to jail.

A siren that seemed almost in my ear brought me out of my reverie. A highway patrol car had pulled up alongside mine. I glanced at my speedometer. I was doing 25.
